

Appendix C - A Contrast of Scales

The diagram below is from the Sunlight and Daylight Report submitted by Try Homes. It is the only three-dimensional representation of the proposed development in the supporting papers. There are no three dimensional drawings made to help understand the architectural impact of the proposed buildings. Nevertheless this drawing shows well the stark contrast of scale between the massive main block of the development and that of the surrounding housing

